Do I need to be the pedant to point out that not all of those are exactly microbes, or is that the Harpy's job?

Oh, she's not so bad. That space alien in the cape has turned her head, is all.

When I decided to be born in February, I must not have realized I'd own a motorcycle. Winter storms play hell with...

I actually own several of the hepatitis plush toys. They handed them out one year at our local Liver Walk. That's also how I got my tiny squishy purple liver, and the Pegasys bag that I used to carry my gym clothes all last year.

That's unhealthy in the long run.

Hey, Easter is the Official Western Rabbit Holiday--with chocolate! Surely you'd celebrate the Official Western Rabbit Holiday With Chocolate! It would be like your second birthday, so those who didn't give you enough chocolate on the other one could Make It Right.

Now that some of us are not nearly so busy with the having-fun part of our show...

Why does he get a neuron? He's got tons of neurons! Us neuron-challenged types object!

(Actually, given the new digs, I think I need either a dust mite or that toxic mold spore. No termites yet, at least. g)

I have the Dust Mite, and it's cuter than it looks on the website. It's meant to work as a talisman against the little buggers, 'cause they set me off something awful. Based on the same theory I'm planning on getting myself a Giardia, partly 'cause it's cute and partly in revenge for the suffering the little blighters put me through a few months back.

But the really adorable one, surprisingly enough, is the Black Death. It's got this wonderful anxious expression that says "I didn't mean to kill all those people. I'm *reallllly*sorry!"
